

PET'S ER

SALISBURY, MARYLAND

After experiencing a growth in demand for their services, Pet's ER, a local emergency veterinary clinic, approached Gillis Gilkerson for assistance in constructing a brand-new facility on Punkin Court in Salisbury, Maryland.

The single-story +/- 4,246 square foot building has doubled Pet's ER's operational space with added exam and surgical rooms, allowing them to treat more animals than ever before. The building is centrally positioned just off of Route 50 and features brick and vinyl siding with a metal roof.

"Gillis Gilkerson was recommended to me by my father, who had personal experience with them in the past. I knew of the various medical related projects they have been a part of, including the Wicomico Animal Hospital, which is a beautiful facility. I have found both Dwight Miller and Palmer Gillis very easy to work with and open to my ideas. I love our new space and so do our clients."
