

ISLAND GOLF CLUBHOUSE

OCEAN CITY, MARYLAND

Dinosaurs, Safaris and UFOs better watch out, because the coolest putt-putt course just landed on 128th Street. Gillis Gilkerson was thrilled to work with Island Golf to construct a + / - 1,500 square foot building at their all new mini-golf location at 12872 Coastal Highway, in front of the Montego Bay shopping center in Ocean City, Maryland. While Gillis Gilkerson didn't play a role in the construction of the course itself, our team loved working alongside Island Golf as Ocean City's newest steam-punk themed miniature golf course came to life.

Gillis Gilkerson managed the ground-up construction of the miniature golf course's ticket sales center and course restrooms. The combination of block and wood constructed building features a metal roof and serves as the control hub for the course's lighting, security and irrigation systems. Inside the building, golfers can enjoy arcade games and pick-up cold drinks and snacks, while making the most important decision - which color ball to use. The project was overseen by Gillis Gilkerson Project Manager Rich Hertzog and Superintendent Brian Mason.

"Our family enjoyed working with the Gillis Gilkerson team very much, and appreciated the expertise they brought to the table."
